Full Stack Web Developer & API Design and Implementation Expert

333222@gmail.com - <http://theosp.github.io/>

I have been a UNIX full stack web developer for the better part of a decade now. My main interest these days is in web API development, both for the open source community and for companies to make their data easily accessible to third-party developers. I consider API design and implementation the best manifestation of the knowledge, capabilities and opinions that I've acquired in my career thus far. When it comes to full stack web development the Meteor framework is my current preferred choice.
