To whom it may concern,

I am writing this letter to give my highest recommendation for Mr. Daniel Chcouri. I was Daniel Chcouri's manager in Comigo Ltd. where he worked as a full stack web developer for the Server Department during June 2013 to March 2014.

Daniel Chcouri has an extraordinary deep understanding of the JavaScript language which he demonstrated during his work on the design and implementation of Comigo's JavaScript SDK that he was in charge of.

He gave a great deal of thought to making the SDK's APIs as intuitive as possible, so that users of the SDK can figure out a lot of it without first having a long reading session with the documentation.

At the same time he did his best to make the code very accessible to other developers and made it very modular to make it simple to maintain and extend it. His well finished work maintains high standards of documentation and comprehensive unit-testing.

He was also in charge of the development of a scalable in-house Ruby based APNS (Apple Push Notification Service) provider. He developed a very robust and efficient system that serves our need to communicate with our iOS users reliably and cheaply.

Daniel Chcouri is a very fast learner. He is flexible and adapts quickly to new languages and frameworks. When he joined Comigo he had little experience with the Ruby programming language but he still managed to join the development of Comigo's backend that is based on the Ruby on Rails framework quickly as if he was well experienced with it. It took him one month to start contributing features and bug-fixes to open-source Ruby libraries we worked with.

In his daily work he demonstrated a high ability to communicate well with management and co-workers. He is a good team player, always willing to help and share his ideas and knowledge. He describes his views with proper and clear arguments to support them.

Daniel Chcouri's vast expertise in the web development world along with his strong work ethic would make him an outstanding asset to any project.

Sincerely,
